Regina Home To Aboriginal Storytelling Festival

Wednesday, March 10, 2010 at 12:34

Aboriginal artists are getting the chance to tell their own stories this week in Regina.

The Sakewewak Storytellers Festival starts today.

The event includes storytellers, musicians, and even multi-media and hip-hop artists.

One of the organizers, Elwood Jimmy, says the festival fills a void -- as it attempts to raise cross-cultural awareness between the Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal communities.
